

About Us

We are a non-profit organization at Balboa Park in San Diego, USA, that represents Korea as a civil ambassador to spread the knowledge of Korean arts, culture, tradition, and history.

At Balboa Park, there is a non-profit consortium organization called House of Pacific Relations International Cottages (HPR), founded in 1935. The aim of this organization is to help its country members promote their culture and facilitate mutual understanding through its "house" located in Balboa Park.

On February 2, 2014, Korea became a member country of HPR. Although currently the "house" for Korea has not been established yet, we have been pursuing fundraising actively to initiate the construction. Our events are organized both independently through our members and collaboratively with HPR. We hope not only to present the beauty of Korean arts and culture, but also to facilitate the interaction with the Korean community and San Diego community to become a valuable educational organization for various generations especially the growing youth.
